Are they a Bot or Not? Is a simple mobile application that lets a user submit a twitter handle to check and see if an account they follow is not real, a bot, or a real human, not! The app begins on a home screen that relays the utility of the app (See Image 1). The user will then click on “Click to find Bots” to enter into the action screen.

A user will enter in the handle of the twitter account they want to find out more about. Please see images 2 and 3.

Please note Are they a Bot or Not? Application engages user input to find out if a twitter account is real or not. The developers did not assume that the user follows the account they want to find out more information about. Please also consider that we were not able to connect the frontend to the backend of the application. The examples above are using fake data.
